Every three to four years we are required to produce an Integrated Risk Management Plan (IRMP) where we identify the risks we face and how we will mitigate against these. We also consider opportunities to improve our Service to the public. We set a number of priorities under each of the four key areas of our Service – People, Operational Excellence, Community Safety Excellence and Value for Money. These drive our work for the next four years and the document becomes our corporate plan, directing where we commit our time and resources.

Take-up of the Scheme has been relatively low in Cambridgeshire and when we last surveyed local councillors and clerks, many told us that their awareness of the Scheme, what's involved and what the benefits might be, was limited.
